

BIO (Celest Garcia)

Celest Garcia is a public health student at California State University, Northridge. Celest is interested in the collection and management of research data and assisting with coding and analyzing data. Her future career goals include pursuing a career in nursing. In her free time she enjoys hiking and baking.

